Selecting Housing as a Focus

The Medicaid Redesign Team selected housing to address aim #2 – Improving health by addressing root causes of poor health

- National research and New York Medicaid data evidenced that higher Medicaid costs are associated with homelessness and recipients who are inappropriately placed in institutional settings
- Housing is a core social risk factor that directly affects all other social determinants of health domains and the improvement of care
- MRT cited the impact of a demonstration pilot in NYC that housed chronically ill homeless individuals
- Political will to create more supportive/affordable housing across the State

Source: A Plan to Transform the Empire State’s Medicaid Program (2011).

Evaluation
Clinical Characteristics

Seriously ill population, high rate of comorbidities:

- 62% have at least one serious mental illness
- 41% have substance use disorder
- 33.5% have “other chronic condition”
- 5% HIV+
- Diagnoses in 3 or more of above categories: 24%

“Other chronic condition”=12 other most common chronic conditions: hypertension, asthma, diabetes, osteoarthritis, coronary heart disease, chronic kidney disease, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, cerebrovascular disease, congestive heart failure, cancer, angina, acute myocardial infarction.
MRT Supportive Housing New Evaluation Findings

On average, Medicaid claim costs declined by about $6,800 per person, however high-utilizers had an average savings of $45,600.

Clients showed lower overall mortality (8%) than the comparison group clients (15%).

Supportive Housing decreased utilization of emergency department, nursing home, inpatient, and primary care utilization.

12-month retention in MRT-SH resulted in a 19% savings, 29% reduction in ER visits, and 48% reduction in inpatient days.
Retention Effects

High utilizers show greatest impact of retention: Pre- to Post-Period drop in spending greater for high utilizers retained for at least 6 months ($32k) than those not retained ($19k)

- Medium utilizers also show retention effect, though not as large
- Similar patterns for inpatient use, ED use; retained for at least 12 months
The criteria below, used to determine whether an individual is a Medicaid high-utilizer, consider service utilization, Medicaid spending, and program enrollment. Eligible participants are enrolled in Medicaid, or have been in the last 12 months, and meet at least one of the following:

Within last 12 months:
- Have had two or more inpatient stays; or
- Five or more ED visits; or
- Four or more ED visits and one or more inpatient stay

Medicaid Spending:
Be within the top 20% of adult Medicaid recipients spending relative to the county where the capital project is located and the project’s target population

Residing within:
- Skilled nursing facility
- State psychiatric center
- State/Voluntary Community Residence
- Community Residence/Single Room Occupancy

Enrolled in:
- Health and Recovery Plan (HARP); or
- HIV Special Needs Plan (SNP)
- Identified by a Health Home, MCO or hospital as a high-utilizer
